

I volunteer at a local community radio station. If I do an interview with one political candidate, I have to offer time to the others. I don't understand why they can run such a partisan piece w out some balance? What's up? I'm glad there is an FCC to arbitrate these sorts of issues and protect the public's interests. Time for you to go to work!

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something produced at "News Central" far away, it's more important that we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
